Mystery Explosion Secret Weapon?

LONDON (CP) — A mysterious explosion — London's third in a week — which smashed a five-story building in the Soho district Sunday night, was followed today by an equally mysterious claim in the German communiqué that Nazi planes had bombed the British capital, although no planes or sirens were heard here.

The lack of official explanation of the blast aroused suspicion that one of Germany's long-promised secret weapons might have been brought into play, but such theories found no confirmation.

Mosley Released; Minister To Tell Commons Why

LONDON (CP) — Sir Oswald Mosley, the prewar British Fascist leader, and his wife were released from prison this morning, it was announced today, despite the protests of British labor groups.

The former blackshirt leader, who had been interned for 3½ years, left Holloway prison in a car with his wife, who had been interned with him.

While a group of newsmen and photographers waited outside the jail, Sir Oswald was taken out by a rear door shortly after 7 a.m.

Decision to release the man who in the days immediately preceding the war organized his followers into political troops dedicated to making Britain Fascist, was announced by Home Secretary Herbert Morrison Wednesday. He said Mosley had been in failing health for some time, and that the release was being given on medical grounds.

Once made public, this decision aroused a storm of protests. Petitions and public demonstrations spread in various parts of the country.

Morrison promised he would tell Parliament at its next sitting the reasons for releasing the Mosleys.

Topping off the public demonstrations were plans to hold a mass meeting today protesting the release.

(In Vancouver, the west end branch of the Labor Progressive Party has protested the release of Mosley, and will write Prime Minister King to convey the protest to the British Government.)

Lady Mosley, who is Sir Oswald's second wife, is a daughter of the second Baron Redesdale and the sister of Miss Unity Freeman-Mitford, a friend and at one time a frequent companion of Hitler.

Nazis Attacking All Along Ukraine Dnieper Sector

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP) — The Germans hurled counterattacks all along the jagged Ukrainian front from the Pinsk Marshes southward to the middle Dnieper, the army newspaper Red Star reported today.

The Russians had announced they already had been forced to give up Zhitomir, a rail junction 90 miles southwest of Kiev, where the Red Army passed toward the highwater mark of its westward 1943 offensive.

The Germans were hitting especially hard in the Cherkasi sector in a determined effort to eliminate a new Russian bridgehead which threatened the last important city held by the Germans on the west bank of the middle Dnieper. The Russians were said to have reached the outskirts of Cherkasi.

The Germans also were counterattacking in the Ovruch sector on the Odessa-Leningrad railway, north of Zhitomir and Korosten, in an effort to repair their lines, and these thrusts had reached the Korostyshev sector, within 60 miles of Kiev, but there were numerous indications the Russians considered their hold on the Ukrainian capital firm.

The retreat from Zhitomir, most serious setback of the 1943 campaign, was ordered by the Russian supreme command, apparently when it was found impossible to reinforce troops holding that newly-captured junction on the Leningrad-Odessa railway.

The Red Army forces withdrew to positions "more advantageous" for defence, the war bulletin said.

However, the drive against Cherkasi, midway between Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk, staged by airborne troops and guerrillas, gave the Russians additional support for their left flank against reinforced enemy units and brought new threats of encirclement to German forces in that salient.

1 In 14 Marriages In B.C. Now Ending In Divorce

By KAY MCINTYRE

One out of every 14 marriages in British Columbia is now ending in divorce, according to Vital Statistics figures compiled today at the Parliament Buildings.

British Columbia already has the highest divorce rate in Canada—more than three times as high as the national average—and from the way the rate trends up, statisticians told me they expected at least three times as many divorces in the province this year as in 1935, which was the year provincial divorce statistics were first recorded.

"More and more divorces are coming in all the time," said Evelyn Brown of Vital Statistics. The trend shows a sharp curve upward this year.

For instance, in 1935 there were only 323 marriage break-ups in B.C. Last year there were 845, and it is expected there will be more than 1,000 this year.

There has been a big increase in population in British Columbia since the beginning of the war, with naturally a proportionate increase in the number of marriages. However, the percentage of divorces to marriages has more than doubled since 1935. In that year there were 5,034 marriages, with 323 break-ups, or 6½ per cent. In 1942 there were 845 divorces to 10,905 marriages, or 13 per cent.

Attention was drawn here today to the graphs on the divorce situation generally and the projection of these graphs by Dr. H. N. Hart, Duke University sociologist, who forecasts on the rate of divorce increase, that one out of every four wartime marriages will end in legal separation, with the rate possibly running as high as one in three during the years of demobilization just after the war. Supporting this, statisticians recalled that where records were kept, the divorce rate just after the end of the last war rose high above the rate obtaining before that time.

All One Family—Count Them

The L'Heureux family at Loretteville, Quebec, are shown here with the exception of one daughter, who works in the city. Ages of the 17 children range from 2 to 22. Nearly all members of the huge family are able to make themselves useful on the land and around the house at the many farm chores.

Five-year-old Denise has her own little spinning wheel which she manipulates with skill as brother Claude, age four, holds the device steady for her.

The job of cleaning and brushing shoes for all 19 members of the family is a gigantic one, and young Claude tackles it with energy and determination.

Public Thinks Canada Should Co-operate In Maintaining World Peace After War

TORONTO — An emphatic majority of Canadians are convinced that their country should help to maintain world peace once present war has ended.

More than this, they are ready to send Canadian soldiers, sailors or airmen to any part of the world to help do the job.

That such sentiment is held by an overwhelming number of Canadians is shown by replies when field reporters for the Gallup Poll in all parts of Canada put this question to voters:

"Would you like to see Canada take an active part in maintaining world peace after the war, even if that meant sending Canadian soldiers, sailors or airmen to help keep peace in other parts of the world?"

The vote: Yes, 78 per cent; no, 15 per cent; undecided, 7 per cent.

If those who have no opinion are set aside, then eight in every 10 Canadians vote "yes" to the question. If the Quebec vote on the question is set aside and the no opinion vote again eliminated from consideration, nine out of 10 want to see Canada co-operate with other nations in maintaining peace throughout the world after the war.

While the Quebec province vote favoring co-operation is smaller than that found in the rest of Canada, nonetheless, a majority in the French-speaking province also favor Canada's joining with other nations after the war to keep peace. The figures bearing this out are shown below:

The Quebec vote on the present question provides dramatic contrast to its negative vote in recent polls on the question of overseas duty for conscripted military, and to its vote in the 1942 plebiscite, when more than seven out of every 10 in Quebec opposed freeing the government's hands to send members of the conscripted military forces overseas.

The present findings assume added importance, coming as they do on the heels of the Moscow agreement and the U.S. Senate passage of the Connally resolution approving the principle of co-operation with other nations after the war to maintain future peace.

So far as U.S. and Canadian public thinking on the question goes, there is no border between the countries. In a recent Gallup Poll in United States, about three out of every four approved the idea of a world police force to maintain peace after the war. In another U.S. poll 78 per cent approved the Fulbright resolution, a House of Representatives version of the Connally resolution. Britons, it should be noted, likewise favor the world police force idea by a vote of 74 per cent, according to the British Institute of Public Opinion.

MAJORITIES MAINTAINED IN ALL GROUPS

Here in Canada, while men are more in favor of co-operation for world peace than are women, while older people are more in favor than younger people, while the farmer is less in favor of the idea than are other occupational groups, still the vote of none of these groups falls below the 70 per cent mark in favor of Canada's helping to maintain world peace.

These findings leave little doubt about what Canadians want when their treaty-makers get together with those from other countries to map out plans for insuring peace after the present war. However, this dramatic confirmation of Canadians' determination to have their country take an active part in helping to prevent future wars is consistent with earlier institute findings along somewhat similar lines.

Trustees Reply to Criticism On College Appointment

Six of the seven city school trustees concerned with the recent recommendation that H. L. Smith be made principal of Victoria College, today, in a joint statement, explained their position and replied to rumors regarding that appointment.

The statement was signed by Trustees F. G. Mulliner, board chairman; Austin Curtis, Dr. G. A. B. Hall, W. A. Bayliss, H. E. Douglas and C. M. Parrott. Trustee A. S. Christie declined to add her signature.

"Feeling that the public is entitled to an explanation by way of reply to the rumors reported editorially on the recent appointment to the principalship of Victoria College, we, the undersigned six out of seven members of the Board of School Trustees, after careful consideration of the qualifications of all possible candidates, believe that, without any bias, political, personal or otherwise, we have selected the best available all-round man of the highest seniority on the staff, to head Victoria College. The Department of Education has approved this choice.

"Mr. H. L. Smith, M.A., is an excellent English scholar and a fine Christian gentleman; he has demonstrated his ability as the able administrator of an institution which is more than five times as large as the college, and he has given to the Victoria school system 30 years of outstanding service.

"The affiliation with the university is not involved in any way. The origins of this and other criticisms of the appointment find their source in small special-interest groups, some of which are strongly supporting other candidates. The appointment has been received by the public generally with warm commendation, and the staff of the college will support Mr. Smith loyally.

"We are firmly convinced that Mr. Smith will do all in his power to assist in maintaining for Victoria College the high academic standards of the past, as well as to endeavor to meet the needs of the changing times."

Stalemate Ends As Montgomery Resumes Gains

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALGERS (AP) — Despite mud, flood and fierce enemy opposition, both the Allied 5th and 8th Armies have gained ground at several points on the Italian front in the last 24 hours, and British troops have advanced five miles to capture Perano in the Sangro River valley.

Allied headquarters announced that units of Gen. Montgomery's 8th Army had taken the little town on the east side of the flooded river, about 1½ miles northeast of Archi, and the point of origin for recent enemy counterattacks in the area about 13 miles inland from the Adriatic.

Near the mouth of the Sangro 8th Army patrols crossed the river and inflicted numerous casualties on the Nazis in several clashes.

Farther south near Rionera there were other clashes between 8th Army patrols and the Germans, and the announcement said these also produced many Nazi casualties.

The occupation of Perano threatens German concentrations both at Archi and at the larger village of Bomba, four miles farther up the river.

U.S. troops of the 5th Army gained ground along the northern part of their line above Venafro, pushing ahead in difficult terrain, and in the face of heavy German artillery fire. Big guns of both sides blazed along the whole 5th Army front.

Bad weather curtailed air operations sharply Friday, but occasional breaks in the cloud cover enabled fighters to attack communications both in Italy and Yugoslavia.

Spitfires damaged a locomotive and nine railway cars and 13 trucks near the Adriatic port of Split.

U.S. dive-bombers attacked a bridge near Cassino, north of the Mignano front and fighters strafed the Germans in the town of Barrea, northeast of Isernia.

R.A.F. bombers bombed roads and buildings at Lanciano, 20 miles south of Pescara on the Adriatic, on Thursday night.

Spitfires attacked road and railway targets southwest of Metkovic in Yugoslavia and shot up two camouflaged oil tanks south of Durazzo in Albania.

In aerial operations two enemy planes were brought down and three Allied planes failed to return.

Juveniles To Face Murder Charge In Police Court

WINNIPEG (CP) — Judge F. A. E. Hamilton of the Winnipeg juvenile court today ordered the case of three juveniles, charged with the murder of a detention home guard, transferred to the jurisdiction of the city police court.

The procedure would be to have a preliminary hearing in the police court, and if the boys were committed for trial, the case would go to a higher court.

The juveniles, Leslie Young, 17; Lewis McNeil, 14, and George Janssen, 15, were charged with murder following the death of Guard Edwin Pearce, 58, who was killed when he went to halt a disturbance in a room at the detention home here Nov. 11.

Famine In Pennies Hampers Business

A penny famine has hit Victoria and for the first time in years local banks are sending to the Bank of Canada at Vancouver for supplies of coppers to keep the wheels of trade running smoothly, one bank manager reported today.

"In the past there has always been enough coppers in the city. If one bank didn't have a supply it could get some from another bank," he said. "For some months now, however, there has been a definite shortage with everything having an extra penny tacked on to the cost—chocolate bars, a dozen eggs, a pound of butter are all priced in the odd cents."

Daylight Raid Follows Up Night Blow At Rhine Factory City

LONDON (CP) — Formations of light Allied planes swept out across the Channel today in a swift follow-up to a heavy assault by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Friday night, on the German chemical centre of Leverkusen, where poison gas components are made. The daylight foray was a continuation of the intensive new aerial offensive which has seen six heavy raids from Britain in four days.

Friday night's four-engine bomber assault, directed also against other unspecified Rhine-land targets, was the second within 12 hours against Nazi centres of chemical warfare and research. Five bombers, three of them Canadian, failed to return.

Although details were lacking, the force of heavy bombers presumably was smaller than the record fleet of some 1,000 four-engine heavyweights flung against Berlin and Ludwigshafen's chemical plants Thursday night, with their bomb bays crammed with 2,500 tons of blockbusters and incendiaries, one of the heaviest air-borne loads of the war.

RESULTS NOT SEEN
Unfavorable weather conditions prevented an immediate assessment of the damage done Friday night in the fifth raid of the war on Leverkusen's chemical plants. The city was last hit Aug. 22. Canadian formations played an important part in Friday night's assault.

Berlin's blazing suburbs lit up the dark sky as the result of the Thursday night assault on that most important of bombing targets, and reports to Sweden and London said chaos was evident in the German capital.

R.A.F. and Canadian planes also laid mines in enemy waters during the night, it was learned.

Squadrons from the Canadian bomber group, including the Lion, Goose and Bluenose formations that hit Ludwigshafen the previous night, were on the Leverkusen raid. Also taking part, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced, was the Moose squadron.

PLANES DAMAGED
Flak punched holes in many of the planes, and Sgt. Ldr. Lloyd Linnell of Weyburn, Sask., came home on three engines, the fourth having been knocked out by shrapnel.

The blow was the fifth raid of the war on Leverkusen, and followed two recent raids on the world's largest chemical centre at Ludwigshafen.

As Friday night's raid carried the current Allied air offensive to new heights, Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, chief of the U.S. 8th Air Force's fighter command, declared that "now we have only to increase our bombers and supporting fighters proportionately and concentrate against heavy industry for Germany to crumble."

STRATEGY BEATEN
Kepner said the Allies had defeated the strategy of the German high command in the air.

Thousands of persons were reported to have been made homeless in Berlin, and traffic was said to have been frozen by direct hits on rail yards and stations in Thursday night's raid. All day Friday the German radio talked of bombs falling in the suburbs, but that is where a lot of factories are situated. It was not until late Friday night that Berlin said the fires had been brought under control.

The Germans again sent a few raiders over southeast England Friday night. Bombs were dropped on one place, causing a few casualties.

McGavin Discusses Taxes, B.C.E.R.

A review of civic affairs, wherein he discussed reduced mill and assessment rates, increased tax collections, negotiations of the provincial government for acquisition of the B.C.E.R. Co. and amalgamation of the four local municipalities, was given by Mayor Andrew McGavin to members of the Victoria Real Estate Board at a luncheon in Spencer's dining-room Friday.

Introduced by R. H. Shafrka, board president, as "our perpetual mayor," His Worship opened his review by saying that the City Council had adopted a policy of strict economy in so far as major public works were concerned since war began.

"This is adopted not alone for the conservation of funds, but with the long view of finding employment when the war is over for men discharged from the services and men no longer needed in the manufacture of munitions of war," he said as he spoke of the tremendous upheaval in the labor market, with the sudden stop in all war activities.

During the course of his review, he reminded his audience that it was the City Council of Victoria, at his suggestion, which started the inquiry into the subject of operations of the B.C. Electric Railway Company. He was not, he said, satisfied with the findings of the Public Utilities Commission.

"I have felt for some time past that if anything comes of the negotiations now going on between the provincial government and the company for the acquisition of the company for operation as a publicly-owned utility, it might be an opportune time to enlarge the boundaries of the city. The amalgamation of the four local municipalities should result in a better and more economical administration.

Turning to the question of the mill rate, the Mayor said that it had decreased from 45 mills when he took office seven years ago, to 37 mills today.

Discussing assessment, he said they were reduced approximately $17,000,000 between the years 1932 and 1940. To keep pace with the reductions in assessments, the city needs $1,000,000 worth of new building annually, Mayor McGavin said. Collections of taxes have steadily improved, both of current taxes and arrears.

J. V. Johnson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly on the recent building restriction regarding the 900 square feet of floor space allowed, and said in his opinion he did not think it would be long before the restriction would be lifted.

Duncan Men Pay Fines

DUNCAN—Keith G. Heriot and Eddie Harry, convicted last week and fined $50 and $37.50 costs each by Magistrate C. A. Tisdall on charges of failing to report for medical examinations in connection with army callups, have been turned over by police to military authorities at Vancouver.

Friends Of Petain Reported Arrested As Crisis Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — Morocco and Dakar radios in French Africa said today that a Vichy broadcast had announced the resignation of Marshal Petain—a report which was not confirmed from any other source.

Dispatches from Switzerland Friday reported Petain had offered his resignation as chief of the German-occupied French state, but that Pierre Laval, the Chief of Government, and the Germans were trying to get him to reconsider and had suppressed the news of a decree by which the aged marshal hoped to turn France back to democratic ways.

The Morocco radio first reported that a woman's voice on the German-controlled Vichy radio had broken in ahead of a news bulletin and announced "Marshal Petain has resigned." The Morocco broadcast was heard in London by the Associated Press.

The Dakar radio, in a broadcast recorded by CBS, shortly afterward said reports of Petain's resignation "are confirmed by the Vichy radio."

NAZI VERSION

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
BERNE (AP) — The Berlin Foreign Office spokesman gave guarded confirmation today of reports of a crisis at Vichy, where Marshal Petain is said to have offered his resignation as Chief of State.

Falling back on an old formula when French collaboration is not going so well, the spokesman was quoted by the Basler Nachrichten's Berlin correspondent as declaring the political situation at Vichy was an "internal affair," not subject to discussion.

He added that a "new stage of developments had not yet been reached, but without question inner-political developments are going on." He declared, however, "rumors" that Petain had resigned, "so far as is known at the Wilhelmstrasse, are nonsensical."

Specific reports from Vichy itself were lacking today, but reliable frontier reports said a number of Petain's friends had been arrested and that cabinet resignations were impending.

Petain's reported plan to draft a democratic constitution, which the Nazis prevented him from promulgating, was viewed here as an attempted master stroke to make way for a regime that would be acceptable to the Allies when France is freed.

Duncan Girl, Age 12, Wanders to Victoria

DUNCAN—A 12-year-old girl, missing from her home here last Tuesday and found by police in Victoria Wednesday morning, was safe at home today.

The girl went to school Tuesday morning, but was missing from afternoon classes. Her bicycle and school books were found abandoned near Kenneth Street and Canada Avenue.

The new servicemen's centre at 1415 Blanshard Street, operated by the Canadian Jewish Congress, will be formally opened this evening at 8 by Premier John Hart. Many activities are planned for entertainment of servicemen, and the centre will be open Monday-Friday from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Saturdays, from 3 p.m. to midnight, and Sundays from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Canada Cutting 'Apron Strings' To Push Postwar Trade Drive

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
OTTAWA—Back of the current emphasis on diplomatic status lie two major postwar objectives of the Mackenzie King ministry.

One is to see the Dominion no longer tied to the economic apron strings of the United States, enjoying a boom when things are booming in the Republic and suffering a depression when conditions are depressed there.

The other is to see Canada no longer automatically associated in the minds of other nations with the foreign policy of Great Britain, but rather recognized as formulating her own foreign policy and as holding definite ideas of her own on such questions as postwar security and the rights which small nations should enjoy in international matters in which their interest is vital.

These two objectives are regarded here as underlying the government's most recent foreign affairs move—the raising of its relations with the United States to an ambassadorial level. The policy has been adopted, it is said, with a view to the post-war national picture which the ministry is intent on realizing.

This fact is accepted as confirmation that the government shares Marshal Stalin's recently expressed optimism for an early end to the war in Europe, and that it regards postwar projects as essentially timely now and in no sense academic.

SOUTH AMERICA MOVES

Link between the two new policies is both close and practical. Recently the United States has raised every one of its foreign ministers to the South and Central American Republic to the status of ambassadors. If the government here failed to follow suit, it would mean Canadian representatives in these republics would be at a definite diplomatic disadvantage in their relations with the various governments, and that their trade negotiations would have to yield precedence to any which the United States might initiate, simply because the latter were on an ambassadorial level.

FOREIGN TRADE PLANS

There are indications the government refuses to recognize dominance of Canada's postwar economy of the United States and inevitable with the Dominion simply falling heir, usually after a time-lag, to the successive booms and depressions which visit the Republic.

To escape from this situation, an intention of pursuing foreign trade in the postwar era with an energy for which there has been no parallel in the Dominion's history is being manifested already by the government.

A government merchant marine as well as government air services are also being projected. The suggestion is being given strongly by current events that foreign trade is scheduled to become, to an important degree, the mainspring of Canada's diplomatic policy.

PREWAR LEAGUE OPPOSED

In regard to diplomatic policy, the government has equally clear views. Prime Minister Mackenzie King is recognized as opposed to any revival of the prewar League of Nations, with its assembly of large and small countries all with equal voting strength. At the same time, he is known to be equally aware of the danger of drifting into a system of postwar world diplomacy in which the various countries will be grouped as either majority or minority stockholders in world affairs.

The Prime Minister is believed to hold, in short, that a nation's ability to assert itself in any postwar problem should be proportionate to its actual concern in that problem, and that Canada should take a leading part in seeking recognition of this formula as a leading principle in postwar foreign affairs.

Police Investigating

DUNCAN BUS, Van Thefts
DUNCAN — B.C. police here were continuing today investigations of the theft of a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus and a delivery van.

The large bus was found in Victoria, abandoned on Garbally Road, while the van was wrecked in a crash at Bell-McKinnon and Sherman Roads, Duncan.

Residents were awakened by the sound of a crash. It was found the stolen van, apparently driven south at a high speed, had crashed through a stout guard rail and over a 10-foot bank, rolling over several times before coming to a stop.

There was no evidence to indicate the driver or other possible occupants had been injured in the accident.

The van had to be removed to Victoria for repairs.

The bus had been damaged when it apparently struck a guard rail while en route to Victoria.

Meanwhile police here are investigating the theft from Victoria of a car owned by Robert W. Reid. The vehicle was found abandoned in a ditch near the railway crossing north of Koksilah. Damage to the car was not extensive.

Duncan Old-timer To Be Buried Sunday

DUNCAN—Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Ann Brownley, resident of Vancouver Island for the last 36 years, will be held Sunday in the United Church.

Mrs. Brownley, who came to Victoria with her late husband in 1907, moving to Duncan five years later, died at her York Road home Tuesday.

An ardent church worker, she was well known throughout lower Vancouver Island. Survivors are three sons, A. J. in Victoria, W. G. in Duncan and A. F. in Sooke, three daughters, Mrs. R. Sanderson, Duncan, and Mrs. George Pearson and Mrs. Herbert in England, 15 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Report Buildings Unfit For Use Untrue, Says Navy

VANCOUVER (CP) — The News-Herald in a newspaper story said five navy sailors "housed in cattle pens of the exhibition grounds" here in an interview had complained "the place stinks."

The News-Herald quoted one sailor as saying he had been in the navy for three years and in all theatres of war "but we've never been housed as we are here in Vancouver." The newspaper added his four companions had corroborated him.

"We hear the Japs they had out there refused to live in the same quarters and got away with it," the sailor said.

Canadian soldiers have been quartered on the exhibition grounds for about a year.

At one time a large number of Canadian soldiers were on the grounds, but now only a few are stationed there.

Rear-Admiral V. G. Brodeur, Royal Canadian Navy, commanding officer, Pacific Command, issued the following statement commenting on the News-Herald story:

"The proof of the inaccuracy of this statement is the simple fact that for the past several months thousands of sailors and soldiers have occupied the same Hastings Park buildings and have not complained.

"The buildings were entirely renovated before occupation and are considered suitable as a temporary war accommodation, for which purpose they are being used today."

Ok. Golden Delicious Headed For City

A straight carload of Golden Delicious apples—the first full car to come here from the Okanagan in the history of Victoria's wholesale fruit trade, will arrive down lower Yates Street, the end of next week, one wholesaler said today.

In the past, only the odd few boxes have made their way to the city, with the bulk of the Okanagan Golden Delicious crop being exported to the United States, the wholesaler added. This year, however, apple requirements in British Columbia have resulted in the large shipment coming to Victoria. Sufficient shipments of other Okanagan apples are arriving to take care of the local demand.

Orange and grapefruit families have come to an end with arrival this week of a car of Santa oranges and grapefruits and the last carload of old-crop California Valencia oranges. A carload of new crop Navel oranges is expected in Victoria from California Monday.

A carload of Okanagan eating pears arrived this week and one more carload is expected at a later date.

Warning that cranberries would be short this year, with only 60 per cent of last year's stock, was given by one wholesaler as he urged housewives to purchase their cranberries for Christmas well ahead of time. Western cranberries are already on the market and eastern variety are expected Dec. 1.

Potatoes advanced another dollar a ton Friday and further advances are to be expected on local potatoes until they reach the price ceiling, according to the wholesaler. California head lettuce is in short supply at the moment.

Two gentlemen masked bandits, armed with rifles, Thursday night, held up Olaf Webstad, watchman at the Cole Bros. Ltd. fish scow on Portland Island, northeast of Sidney, B.C. Police headquarters here learned today.

The bandits escaped in a dirty green-colored fish boat after binding Webstad's wrists and taping his mouth. They took with them $82 in cash, a quantity of cigarettes and groceries, including tea, coffee, honey, peaches and other canned fruits, and chocolate bars.

B.C. Police of the Ganges detachment on Salt Spring Island investigated the hold-up.

Webstad reported the bandits treated him gently and said they did not want to take any of his personal money or belongings. They just wanted company stuff, they said.

Portland Island is in Satellite Channel, between the north tip of Saanich Peninsula and North Pender Island.

Cowell Named Selective Service Director in B.C.
OTTAWA (CP)—Maj. Gen. H. J. Riley, director in charge of mobilization for National Selective Service, has become regional associate director with headquarters at Winnipeg and will be succeeded by S. H. McLaren, his assistant in the directorate of mobilization here, Labor Minister Mitchell announced today.
The transfer of Gen. Riley to Winnipeg was one of several selective changes announced by the minister. Others are: C. W. Foster, associate director with supervision over essential civilian services, becomes vice-chairman of the administrative board.

Maj. J. B. Cowell of Vancouver, former administration controller for the United Kingdom Inspection Board, becomes regional director for the Pacific region.
Hector Dupuis of Montreal is appointed regional director for the Quebec region, with headquarters at Montreal.
In his announcement Mr. Mitchell said the appointment of Gen. Riley to the new post, in which he will have charge of mobilization from Fort Arthur west, is in accordance with the policy of decentralization and with a desire of Gen. Riley to return to Winnipeg.
Gen. Riley before joining National Selective Services was District Officer Commanding in Military District No. 10 (Winnipeg). Mr. Mitchell said it had originally been anticipated the position of vice-chairman of the administrative board would be held by a judge, but it had been found judges were reluctant to accept the post because it was "purely administrative."

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis
By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
Germany's claim to have occupied still more islands in the Aegean Sea, on top of the capture of Leros the other day from British and Italian forces, fits perfectly into the picture of growing disaffection among Hitler's Balkan satellites and further marked signs of Turkish support for the Allies.
Hitler, in his swift drive to possess himself of all these little islands, which dominate the Aegean, is bent on creating a strategic barrier against the

Letters to the Editor
ARE NOT STANDING.
We have been strongly pressed to stand for election as Saanich school trustees and feel that in the circumstances the public is entitled to know our reasons for refusing.
We resigned upon the question of corporal punishment raised by the report of the Inspector which was in effect rejected, and we were sustained by the finding of the commission against which the charge of inconsistency has been brought.
We believe that anyone reading the report carefully and intelligently and without bias will come to the conclusion that it is consistent and turns upon the question of the breach of the custom which demands that punishment shall be given only by strapping on the hand.
As indicated in the report, the purpose of this custom is to protect parents who are compelled to send their children to school to teachers not of their own choosing and who are entitled to know the limits to which punishment may go.
It is obvious that where a boy 15 years old determinedly resists a teacher to whom he has given great provocation and is attacked in the heat of the moment without regard to this custom, there are definite possibilities of disaster. For example, the boy might be knocked over and strike his head against a desk and be seriously hurt.
According to this view, the breach of the custom by a teacher eminent in his profession and regarded as an example by virtue of the offices he has held, must be dealt with by severe disciplinary action, however reluctantly, and though accompanied by tributes to the teacher in other respects, and although in this particular instance there were no serious consequences. Otherwise, numbers of relatively inexperienced teachers might take his actions as a precedent, with disastrous results.
In such a case we understand the law requires that the provincial authority shall, in the first instance, forward the finding to the school board for action, and this was, in fact, done. But if no action results we feel that the responsibility for dealing with the matter must devolve upon the provincial authority.
We are quite certain that this is not a question upon which an election should be fought, and that in the circumstances a new board should not be expected to accept the responsibility of dealing with the matter, especially considering the time that has elapsed.
Therefore, until and unless the provincial authority discharges what we feel to be its responsibility and definitely deals with this question, we are not prepared to consider the question of standing for election.
As to whether in all the circumstances the penalty of dismissal should be commuted to a reprimand, we do not wish to express an opinion.
We believe our decision will meet with the approval of that large majority of the voters who take a non-partisan view.

The censorship wouldn't pass any such language unless the Turks were feeling sure of themselves. This doesn't necessarily mean they will want to join the war actively, or that the Allies will need them. It certainly means moral support and probably material aid — grant of bases, for instance.
Apart from the strategic and psychological value in possessing the Aegean Islands, as well as the great Mediterranean island of Crete which lies across the mouth of the Aegean, there may be a further important and highly interesting reason for German interest. I am informed that almost the entire world supply of emery ore comes from the Aegean islands of Naxos and Lemnos, and that quite possibly Hitler's war industries would be in deep trouble without this ore.

Christmas Recipes Hurdle Rationing
OTTAWA (CP)—Three government dietitians have delved into the problem of how to make this year's wartime Christmas menu just as appetizing as before rationing, and they've come up with the answer in a neat list of recipes for such Yuletide goodies as rich fruit cake, puddings, sauces and mince meat.
Members of the testing kitchen of the agriculture department's consumer service, these experts are Dorothy Batcheller of Toronto, Gertrude Gerlach of Saskatoon and Marie Paule Billette of Montreal.
Their advice to Canadian cooks, for instance, is go ahead and make their usual Christmas tastes—but to use smaller quantities rather than larger amounts involving substituted ingredients.
The problem of making a rich Christmas fruit cake without seeded raisins, currants or citron peel was the first of many presented by the Christmas menu. Tests were successful—a richly spiced dark cake and one filled with fruit, and a light cake in which orange and lemon peel replaced the vanished citron were the results.
"We found that if we tried to be too economical we were wasting our time," one dietitian said. "But we did reduce the fat and sugar. We also found that unrationed maraschino cherries made up partly for the lack of citron and supplied a touch of Christmas red."

After Twelve Months

CONSIDERED IN CONJUNCTION WITH the fact that a year ago today the vast Russian armies in the Stalingrad area had just launched an offensive which has taken them 720 miles westward in the meantime, the temporary loss of the important railway junction of Zhitomir—after Soviet occupation of less than a week—must be regarded as of purely local significance. A glance at the map reveals that our gallant ally had created an extremely sharp salient whose flanks at its apex became vulnerable to a counterattack in force. The rapidity of the Soviet movement had obviously notified the enemy sufficiently in advance to enable him to select a comparatively narrow area for his extremely heavy counterblow. It succeeded momentarily and obliged the Russians to withdraw to prevent encirclement in the bulge created in the advance from Zhitomir during the early part of the week. But with the capture of Korosten, Rechitsa, and Ovrukh, any hope the Nazi high command may have had of turning this local success into a serious threat to Russian strategy in the western Ukraine was dissipated, leaving General Nikolai Vatutin's right flank safely anchored against the Pripiet Marshes.

It should be noted, however, that the re-occupation of Zhitomir did not restore to the Germans railway communication between the Ukraine and White Russia, the severance of which a week ago split the northern and southern enemy forces—a gap further widened by the new Soviet victory at Ovrukh. This city is just south of the White Russian border and, together with Korosten and Rechitsa, looms as another potential base for drives against the important rail centres of Kallinkovichi and Zholobin. With these additional advances taken into consideration, therefore, the disappointing change in the westward-moving battle-line obviously is not unduly worrying the Russian commanders. They know, too, that the state of the enemy's manpower and reserves of armor will limit his capacity to repeat such tactics as resulted in the recapture of Zhitomir. To remove the danger which is threatening German troops between Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk, moreover, a large scale movement would be required. And the Russian advance toward Cherkast would seem to have been directed to head off any such attempt.

A New One

BRITISH COLUMBIANS BY THIS TIME know what C.C.F. leader Harold Winch thinks about the newspapers of the country—even though they still find it difficult to make top or tail of what he is supposed to have said at Calgary last week. His recent speeches in the prairie provinces have at least furnished the public with a general idea of the kind of government he would give British Columbia if the electorate voted him a parliamentary majority—including, of course, a completely controlled press for the edification of a regimented populace.

But Mr. Winch is not the only one with an extraordinary concept of the newspaper business and how it operates in this and other provinces. Only last Thursday night in Vancouver, for example, Mr. D. S. Tait, addressing the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, declared that the Congress of Industrial Organizations officials dominate our press. And for good measure he added that the Newspaper Guild "is one of the brightest inventions and major triumphs of the Communists in America."

We know that Mr. Winch sticks to the "book of the words" as compiled by his party when he sails into the newspapers. He no doubt thinks it sounds well—even if he does not do a very good job of explaining his attitude. Mr. Tait's outburst, however, reminds us of an old song that was popular in the music halls of Britain about 35 years ago: "I Don't Know Where He Gets His Ideas From." His explanation would indeed be interesting. But the newspapers now find themselves in the middle of the road—kicked from "Left" and "Right."

Strange Procedure

PUBLIC OPINION IN BRITAIN IS BOILING over in protest against the release from prison of Sir Oswald and Lady Mosley—the former reported to be more or less seriously ill. Demonstrations in Downing Street, editorial outbursts and cartoons in the London and provincial press, threats of strikes in important war industries, and other manifestations left the government with no doubt as to the attitude of the general public. Nor is there anything surprising in this. One does not require a great deal of imagination to understand how millions of Britons detest any kind of pandering to people of this ilk.

For three or four years before the outbreak of the present war Mosley was appealing for recruits for the British Union of Fascists. In accordance with the British spirit of fair play, and tolerance his public appearances were marked by the attendance of substantial bodies of police, not to prevent him from sending up to high heaven his paens of praise for Mussolini and Hitler and the systems they represented, but to protect him from the violence of men and women implacably opposed to Fascist and Nazi tyranny. And thousands in Britain will re-echo the News-Chronicle's simple question: "Can he not be treated for his sickness just as well in prison as outside?" Other people guilty of much less sinister offences against decency than he have no alternative.

Our Great Frontier

SIR HUBERT WILKINS, THE ARCTIC explorer, has been speaking in New York of what Russia has accomplished by exploring and developing the natural resources of its vast northern and sub-Arctic areas. This is a matter of interest to Canadians because we possess a northland similar in numerous respects to that of Russia.

Recalling how under the czars the northern areas of Russia lay dormant and unproductive, Sir Hubert revealed how the Soviet Union has had men at work exploring, investigating and planning the reclamation and development of hitherto unutilized territory. Wheat, oats and barley suitable for growing in the short Arctic summer season have been developed by Soviet scientists. In no other country, he said, has exploration and the exploitation of the results of exploration been more energetically and expertly developed and applied. Already the results are seen in the supplies of timber and minerals necessary for the Soviet's tremendous war effort. In peacetime these areas will yield raw materials for the development of new industries, as well as food to sustain a growing population.

The results in Russia should direct our attention anew to the possibilities in our own great virgin northland. If we have the intelligence and energy to follow Russia's lead in research and exploration, we shall in the post-war days be able to turn to it as our new frontier of vast opportunities.

Strange Paradox

STOCK MARKET PRICES TUMBLED the other day on the merest rumor of the possibility of an early peace. Why this paradox of the wholesale sacrificing of securities in the expectation of something happening which is universally desired?

The financial editor of the New York Herald Tribune attributes the selling wave to the fear of difficulties which may face industry in converting back to peacetime pursuits the facilities which are now fully geared to a wartime economy. At least, temporarily, this would obviously adversely affect earnings and dividends. But behind it there is indicated the consciousness that we are not prepared for peace. Actually, it is not the prospect of peace itself that proves unsettling to the holders of securities, but our unpreparedness for it.

Should peace come suddenly, would it find us as unprepared in an economic sense as we were unprepared militarily for an effort of the dimensions of World War II? That is a pertinent question and it should serve to remind us, as we need to be reminded from time to time, that the transition from war to peace will be incomparably more difficult than was the transition four years ago from peace to war.

Fortunately, we still have time to prepare for the transition period. What happens will depend on how well we use our time in the interim. And when we are able to face the problems ahead with confidence, people no longer will be rushing to sell their securities whenever anyone cries "Peace."

With The Banks

PERHAPS THE OUTSTANDING DEVELOPMENT in the field of banking in Canada has been the increase in the holdings of short-term government securities. At the end of August, the total amount of these obligations held by the chartered banks was $1,579,000,000 as compared with $1,070,000,000 at the end of the corresponding month a year ago, an increase of $509,000,000. In contrast to this increase in short-term securities, the amount of long-term government obligations held by the banks at the end of August showed a decrease of $38,000,000 from the amount held a year ago.

The volume of loans during the year has shown a relatively small increase. Current loans made in Canada amounted to $1,063,000,000 at the end of August this year as compared with $988,000,000 at the end of August last year, an increase of only $75,000,000. During August this year, the volume of loans showed a decrease of $70,000,000 from the amount at the end of July.

The total volume of deposits of the Canadian banks at the end of August amounted to $3,568,000,000 as compared with $3,122,000,000 a year ago, an increase of $446,000,000. It was this large volume of deposits in the hands of the people, of course, which guaranteed the success of the Fifth Victory Loan before the books were opened.

Notes

Why think a "solid diet" more nourishing? Does the blood stream pick up and distribute solid chunks of food?

In his most recent speech Hitler said: "Whatever may happen at the end, victory is certain." Naturally he did not tell the German people for whom.

An advertisement of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces that an increased supply of children's underwear is now being manufactured and will be made available through regular retail channels. This will be good news for parents. However, retail supplies cannot be built up in a day and it will be some time before they catch up with the backlog of demand.

OTTAWA.

DAY IN BED

ONE OF THE few pleasant customs of Ottawa is to lie in bed on Sunday morning. I suppose people do it in other places, but not in the lusty, whole-hog fashion of Ottawa. Here spending Sunday in bed is not merely a habit. It is an art.

It arises out of the exhaustion of war. Your worn-out executive has been told by his doctor that he is going to die if he keeps working until 8 p.m. before going home to dinner. He has been told to rest at the week-end. So he rests. A great hush descends upon the capital. The hotel where I write this is as quiet as a cemetery, with each corpse laid out, asleep, in his own cell.

That is why your reporter lay in bed all last Sunday reflecting on life and the first snow of winter. But even in bed Ottawa does not properly rest. By noon people begin to stir about. Men who are gripped by great ideas come surging into your room and hurl the contents of their mind at you. Thus, though I remained in bed myself all day, I acquired more information, or misinformation, than I could hope to get by trudging the streets and visiting official offices. Sunday opens men's mind and frees their tongues.

SAD STORY

FIRST, AT THE unearthly hour of noon, appeared a New Dealer from Washington, one of the brain boys from down that way who have ideas about everything. And, pacing my little room in deep agitation, he assured me that the President had finally sold out the New Deal, that he had ceased to fight for social progress within the United States and was now concentrating entirely on foreign policy.

This makes the New Deal very sad. They say the President has had to surrender to reaction at home in order to get the support of the reactionaries in his work of bringing his country back into the world. The latter he considers the more important part of his mission, so the New Deal at home will have to look after itself.

No sooner had the New Dealer disappeared than a brilliant young Englishman appeared and, after he had ordered roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, explained to the recumbent figure on the bed the present confusion of British society. Speaking as a Leftist, he was very discouraged because, he said, the Labor Party was no more use, had lost its Socialism and had disgusted a large part of the working population. But there appeared to be at the moment no substitute for it, no truly progressive movement was forming and reform in Britain had no spearhead. He ate the roast beef of Old England and went off very sadly.

DEBATE

SOON AFTERWARDS a young C.C.F. member barged in to complain that somebody was always doing the Left dirt. Why was it, he asked, with a certain pathos, that just as everything was going along so nicely a fellow like Harold Winch had to rush out and scare the bourgeoisie with his talk of revolution? I said I sympathized with him deeply.

But before he could explain further we were joined by an eminent Liberal who had been doing his homework and quoted us a long series of legal cases to show that no national government in Canada had the power to institute anything like the C.C.F. program. Too much power rests with the provinces who can prevent the national government from socializing most industries, if they want to. Perhaps Mr. Winch has thought of that and hence his plan to scrap the constitution.

The argument between the Socialist and the Liberal continued until dinner time and the Liberal prepared to go, flatly refusing to stay for dinner. But as he paused in the doorway, saying good-bye, the Socialist uttered the magic words, "Democratic Socialism." The Liberal at once took off his hat and coat and re-seated himself and called for dinner. When these old war-horses smell battle nothing can stop them.

An argument as to whether democratic socialism is possible went on until late at night. All of which shows the kind of atmosphere of controversy we live in here, the rare, exhausting climate of ideas. You can't escape it even in bed on Sunday.

GENES OF THOUGHT—ENTHUSIASM

"Enthusiasm is the genius of sincerity, and truth accomplishes no victories without it."—Bulwer-Lytton.

"Earnestness is enthusiasm tempered by reason."—Pascal.

"There is no substitute for thoroughgoing, ardent and sincere earnestness."—Dickens.

"Every great and commanding movement in the annals of the world is the triumph of enthusiasm."—Emerson.

"Christian experience teaches faith in the right and disbelief in the wrong. It bids us work the more earnestly in times of persecution, because then our labor is more needed."—Mary Baker Eddy.

A Christmas suggestion—give dad some toys so the kids can play with those they get.

It would help a lot if we knew who intends sending us Christmas cards.

The "young" chicken we have eaten in some places indicates that youth will not be served.

The poorest tip today is to tip back in an easy chair while others do the war work.

OUT OF HIGH PROFITS

From Toronto Star
The Toronto transportation commissioners have come forward with an offer to widen 10 street intersections, install 69 safety zones, widen five sections of street pavement and extend one street. To do so, they are ready to pay the total estimated cost of $750,000 out of their system's 1943 earnings. They estimate that free Sunday transportation for children and the armed forces constitutes a gift of $250,000, so that the total "dividend" of service to the citizens would be $1,000,000. If the year 1944 is equally favorable financially, "consideration will undoubtedly be given to a further 'return' to the car riders and citizens for that year also."

JAPAN'S ACE CARD

If Japan is allowed to retain the vast empire conquered up to this time, as far as they are concerned they have won the war. We are going to have to retake it. Japan's ace card is to wear us down.—Rear Admiral Elliott C. Buckmaster, former commander of the sunk aircraft carrier Yorktown.

WAR—FOUR YEARS AGO

Nov. 20, 1939—German planes escape from London defence fire and other Nazi planes successfully attack Orkney Islands. Flooded Rhine and border rivers reduce western front activity.

Nov. 21, 1939—British accused Germany of illegal mine warfare and proclaimed unrestricted sea blockade of German trade in retaliation. German scouting plane shot down off sea coast of England. Germans claimed they captured two British agents who plotted German revolution.

CONSIDER THIS: (Immunization Week)

Scarlet Fever:
(July, 1943—Chelsea) Inquest reported on 4-year-old child who died after an injection of scarlet fever serum. Child (National Children's Home) died within a few minutes after receiving injection of serum against scarlet fever. (Lancet) 1936.

Three-year-old boy collapsed and died shortly after scarlet fever injection, 1937.
(From the Harmful Effects of Serum. M. B. Bayly, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., 1939).

Boy, suspected of having scarlet fever, died in London in 20 minutes after an injection. He had already been inoculated against diphtheria, which was thought to have sensitized him against the later serum. (Animals' Defender, May, 1943).

N.B. Allergic shock may occur in persons sensitive to horse serum, from which diphtheria serum is made. Acute shock may follow its use.

Whooping Cough
In response to a query put to the British Medical Journal, 26th June, 1943, the Editor (when asked if the pertussis vaccine is of value) replied: "The consensus in this country is unfavorable to the use of vaccines in the treatment of pertussis. When given in the paroxysmal stage they may even cause an increase in the frequency and severity of the spasms... In America, too, Sauer could find no amelioration of symptoms in either mild or severe cases treated with vaccines."

You Women Who Suffer From HOT FLASHES then CHILLY FEELINGS

If you—like so many women between the ages of 35 and 55—suffer from hot flashes, weak, dizzy, nervous feelings, irregular periods, are blue at times—due to this middle age period in a woman's life—start taking Lydia E. ## World Fellowship Sought by Women Of Many Nations

Women's fight for freedom was the mutual theme developed in three speeches Friday at the Y.W.C.A. when a joint meeting of board and committee observed annual World Fellowship Week.

Madame Kluckauf, recently arrived in Victoria from Prague, spoke on the centuries-old struggle of Czechoslovak women; Mrs. Kenneth Drury drawing on her knowledge of the Far East, spoke on the Chinese, and Miss Margaret Clay discussed the splendid stand taken by Russian womanhood.

Introducing the guest speakers was Mrs. B. S. Heisterman, president.

Giving a background of the Czechoslovak people, Madame Kluckauf said the small nation is Slavic in blood but western in culture—a vital junction of political, racial and cultural crossroads.

"The differences between the Czechoslovakian woman and you," said the speaker, "is that for thousands of years they have had to protect themselves against revolutions and political upheavals. The Nazi invasion meant that for them the struggle for liberty must begin again."

"Could we not police the world spiritually, educate the women of aggressive nations, and disperse the master-race myth of the Nazis," she suggested in conclusion.

"From bound feet to one-piece bathing suits," the progress of Chinese women was related by Mrs. Drury, who said that because for many hundreds of years marriage has been her only inalienable right, progress has been slow and the need for trained women acute.

"Education is still not compulsory," said Mrs. Drury, in explaining the high rate of illiteracy in China, noting that only 15 per cent doctors and nurses working in the Chinese army are trained. Envisioning the postwar task as colossal, Mrs. Drury said: "The common people must be given an opportunity to know there is something more to life than the endless drudgery of a day's toil; the struggle to support large families."

Miss Clay opened her address with a quotation from George Bernard Shaw—"History of Communistic Russia in British and American journals is a record of recklessly prejudiced mendacity."

Lenin's support of more freedom for women has resulted in great advances, she said, citing the example of mass burning of veils by the many Moslem women in the Soviet.

The Russians believe the well-being of man is more important than material profit, the speaker maintained. Women take a particularly active part in medicine, she said, one estimate placing the number of doctors in the Soviet at 90 per cent women.

DIXON—DAVEY

Christ Church Cathedral bells were pealed Friday evening, following the marriage in that church of Stella Rosetta, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davey, 1050 Monterey Avenue, and Rev. Leonard David Dixon, L.Th., St. Barnabas Church, New Westminster, younger son of Mrs. C. W. Dixon, 228 Ontario Street, and the late Mr. Dixon. Both are well known in A.Y.P.A. work, the groom being a past president of Victoria Local Council. Very Rev. Dean Spencer Elliot performed the ceremony, and Miss Helen McRae played the wedding music.

A wedding gown of white chiffon, fashioned with long sleeves, gathered bodice and a full skirt, was chosen by the bride. A coronet trimmed with tiny pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion net, and she carried a white prayer book topped with a gardenia and showered with rosebuds. Miss Lorna Davey was her sister's only attendant, wearing a frock of shell pink chiffon with lace insets in the yoke. She wore a large matching bow of pink tulle in her hair, and carried a Colonial bouquet of mauve and pink chrysanthemums. Walter Dixon supported his brother, and ushers were Richard Batey and Rev. Wm. Askew.

Decorations in the church and at the reception held in the Y.W.C.A. lounge were arranged by Misses Joyce Dixon and Vera Parfitt. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth hand made by Miss Dixon.

Rev. and Mrs. Dixon will reside at 819 4th Avenue, New Westminster, after a honeymoon on the mainland. For traveling, the bride wore an apple green wool frock, small brown velvet hat, muskrat coat, alligator accessories and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses.

TAFFE—ADAMS

The groom was supported by his brother, Frank Taaffe, R.C.A.F., and ushers were Wallace Kelly, cousin of the bride, and Ernest Bartlett.

A reception was held in the Oak Bay Theatre Hall, after which the couple left for a honeymoon in Vancouver.

The bride wore a green wool dressmaker suit, tiny fur hat, fur coat and a brown purse, a gift of the groom and corsage bouquet of gardenias. Among the wedding gifts was a Duncan Phyfe coffee table, a gift from the Deputy Minister of Education and the department in which the bride was employed.

The marriage took place in St. Matthew's Church, Leicester, Eng., in May of Betty Lewin, and Pte. Walter Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Logan, 1475 Edgeware Road.

Fatigue is From the Nerves Fight Chronic Fatigue By Building Up Nervous Energy

You work hard and are tired—that is one kind of fatigue which is soon relieved by rest. But chronic fatigue—always tired—is an entirely different condition. It comes from exhaustion of the nerves. When you have chronic fatigue you sooner or later become restless, nervous and irritable and simply cannot rest or sleep well. Chronic fatigue may come from overwork, either mental or physical, or from worry and anxieties which consume nervous energy at a tremendous rate. The appetite fails, digestion is upset and you do not get sufficient nutrition to build up nervous energy. The treatment recommended is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food because this medicine contains the food minerals required to help restore nervous energy and vitamin B<sub>1</sub>, which is so helpful to the nerves and helps to improve digestion. That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been helpful to many thousands of people during the nervous strain of recent years is best proven by the very marked increase in sales. Business executives and office staffs, factory superintendents and workers, housewives and school children—all classes, benefit by this dependable and time proven food treatment for exhausted nerves and chronic fatigue. Why not take advantage of this medicine from which you may expect such benefits as so many others have obtained. Food FOR THOUGHT!

Today, his brain ponders the scribbled markings of a child's fancy. Tomorrow, who knows? Perhaps it will be a new synthetic... a problem in television... even a giant power project.

How far this child will develop his innate mental powers will depend upon many things, BUT NONE MORE THAN UPON FOOD. Tests have shown that the well-nourished child is, on the average, brighter and more intelligent than the under-nourished child.

What are the daily requirements of a balanced diet? Which foods supply them? What cooking methods preserve food values? Today, Canadians are asking and finding the answers to these questions. And they are building a finer, stronger Canada.

Historic Victoria To Live Again in Colorful Cavalcade

Dramatic incidents in the century-old history of Victoria will be filmed in spectacular tableaux at the Royal Victoria Theatre Dec. 17 and 18 in the graphic and colorful "Victoria Cavalcade," originated by A. M. D. Fairbairn and produced by the Little Theatre and Dramatic School as the capital's grand finale to its centenary celebrations.

Three performances, two in the evening and a Saturday matinee, will be presented by a cast of approximately 100, who have been rehearsing under skilled direction for several weeks.

Conceived by Mr. Fairbairn in the light of dramatic history with a high entertainment value, the presentation will be a major community effort signaling the 100th birthday year, dedicated to the spirit of Victoria past and present and produced for the benefit not only of anticipated capacity audiences but for two of the most worthwhile charities that enjoy local support. Net profits will be divided equally between the Queen Alexandra Solarium and the British Save the Child Fund.

Work has been started on the scenery and artistic costuming required for the function which will give the present generation some appreciation of the color and gaiety of Victoria in their great-grandfathers' time and earlier.

Over half a dozen eras will be depicted.

Opening with an Indian scene of this region before the white man came, the Cavalcade will continue up to the present time.

Highlights of the historical pageant will be the arrival of Sir James Douglas and the choosing of a site for Fort Victoria. That will be followed by the erection of the fort itself.

Signaling a high point in the social life of colonial days will be Governor Richard Blanshard's reception to the settlers and the grand ball at the governor's residence.

ROMANTIC SCENE

Picturesque and romantic will be the Cargo of Crinolines, the scene devoted to the arrival of the bride ship, which brought feminine charm and home at tentativeness to the predominantly masculine population of the early days.

Bringing the Cavalcade up to modern times and mingling with artistic fantasy will be the epilogue in which the ghost of Governor Blanshard returns to the scenes of his gubernatorial regime for the visit of the King and Queen.

Under the general direction of Stewart Clark, chief producer, the various sections of the Cavalcade have been assigned to individual directors. Art Kerr will be in charge of the prologue; H. S. Hurn, the Blanshard section; Mrs. Audrey Johnson, the grand ball at Government House; Mr. Clark, the Cargo of Crinolines; and H. J. Reynolds, the epilogue.

Mrs. Curtis Sampson and Mrs. J. H. Hamlet are arranging the costumes.

Patronage has been extended by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Woodward, Premier and Mrs. John Hart and Mayor and Mrs. Andrew McGavin.

More Men Wanted For Aircrews

"Mounting aircraft production figures necessitate a corresponding flow of aircrew candidates through the Dominion's flying training schools," Sqdr. Ldr. W. Paul Graham, commanding officer, No. 1 Recruiting Centre, R.C.A.F., Vancouver, points out.

"British Columbia by its worthy response to the Fifth Victory Loan will pay for many bombers and fighting planes," Sqdr. Ldr. Graham added. "But British Columbia must also see that those aircraft are manned." "We must have men to fly them, to navigate, to drop the bombs, man the guns and the wireless equipment, in other words—aircrew."

Immediate enlistment is offered, Sqdr. Ldr. Graham stated. The staff at No. 1 recruiting centre, Vancouver, and the representatives operate so that there is a minimum of delay in the medical and educational tests and documentation.

Recruits can leave immediately for the training establishments, or, if they request, a limited time to wind up personal business affairs, can be attested and granted leave without pay.

Those physically fit, mentally alert, 17 years of age or over, and not yet 33, are eligible for aircrew. High school education is not required, and married as well as single men are eligible. Air gunners can be accepted up to the age of 35.

Young men of 17 go on leave until they are 17½, giving them time to complete normal education before reporting for preliminary training. While on leave without pay, however, they wear the service button identifying them as members of the R.C.A.F.

"Immediate enlistment is also available in several ground trades for those of a lower physical category," states Sqdr. Ldr. Graham. "They are acceptable up to 30 years of age and, of course, there is also immediate enlistment and training available to women seeking to take up one of the more than 40 trades in the women's division of the R.C.A.F."

Inquiries may be made at No. 1A recruiting centre of the R.C.A.F., 1233 Government Street, or at any army recruiting centre, or to any R.C.A.F. representative.

Overcoming Bad Luck a Powerful Factor In Building Personality

WE ARE NOT responsible for our heredity; much of our environment that we cannot control; but if it is true that a third factor enters into the building of personality — the power to face life with an individual rejoinder—then we are responsible for that. When such acceptance involves self-condemnation, an alibi almost inevitably rushes to the rescue. A college president says that after long dealing with students, he is unsure whether the degree B.A. stands for Bachelor of Arts or for Builder of Alibis.

ESCAPE FROM BLAME

On the lowest level this desire to escape blame expresses itself in emphasis upon luck. Fortunate people "get the breaks," men say; personal failure is due not so much to mistake as to mischance. That luck represents a real factor in human experience is evident, and he who does not expect ill-fortune as one of the ingredients of life is trying to live in fairyland, but nothing finer has appeared on earth than unlucky people who are real persons.

Biography is packed with illustrations of this fact. Glenn Cunningham, who has run the fastest mile on record, in 4.4-4.10 seconds, was crippled in boyhood in a schoolhouse fire. The doctors said he would never walk again. Then they said that only a miracle could enable him to walk. He was out of luck. He began walking by following a plough across the fields, leaning on it for support; and then went on to tireless experimentation to see what he could do with his legs, until he broke all records for his race. Unlucky people who face mischance with a redeeming personal response make a stimulating company.

HELPLESS VICTIMS

In our day—one of the most disturbed, difficult, and fateful eras in human history—the massed weight of popular emphasis is naturally given to the environmental conditions that potentially affect man's fortunes and that in particular excuse his failures. So insistently are these dwelt upon that many come to think of themselves as their helpless victims.

It is significant that our modern novels commonly picture men and women as the prey of fate. Human beings trapped by life, fighting a hopeless battle against the conspiracy of tragic mischances, and finally crushed and mangled—how many novels are shaped to that outline! As one literary critic sums it up, the common theme of a whole school of writers is "the individual defeated by the world, and made a sardonic jest of." So one character exclaims, "Tricked by Gad, that's what I was, tricked by life and made a fool of."

There is a serious need that we restore to its proportionate importance our power of personal response. Its universal presence is indicated by the universality of self-blame. A mechanical automaton lacks any basis for self-condemnation. It is not responsible for anything it is or does. All human beings, however, confront the problem of self-accusation—conscience. But if self-blame has validity, it can only be because man possesses the power to face life with a personal rejoinder for which he is responsible.

LUCK NO GUARANTEE

At any rate, bad luck is a poor alibi if only because good luck by itself never yet guaranteed real personality. Prof. Henry N. Wieman says that a college roommate of his desired to improve his intellectual life. He procured a large comfortable chair that was thought to be good for study. He got study slippers and a lounging jacket. A book rest was fastened to the arm of the chair to hold the book at the right angle before his eyes. A special lamp was installed and eyeshade, pencils, paper, and revolving bookcase. He would come into the room after the evening meal, take off his coat and put on the jacket, take off his shoes and slip into the slippers, adjust the study lamp, put his book on the book rest, recline in the comfortable chair with his eyeshade over his eyes, and, when everything was perfectly adjusted, he would go to sleep.

Life is like that. It is not so simple that good fortune suffices for it. Seeing that sleeping youth in his comfortable study chair, one remembers that "Pilgrim's Progress" came from a prison, as did "Don Quixote," and Sir Walter Raleigh's "History of the World," and some of the best of O. Henry's stories. They were written by unlucky people who were, nevertheless, real persons.

Fatalism Very Comfortable Way of Avoiding Responsibility

MANY today escape a sense of personal responsibility through a general feeling of powerlessness. Like Gulliver in the land of the giants, they find their lives determined by forces so titanic that they lapse into a mood of emotional fatalism.

Fatalism is commonly presented as a dour, grim doctrine, robbing us of inner freedom, reducing us to the estate of robots, denying us initiative and creativity.

As a matter of fact, fatalism is one of the most comfortable moods in which a man can live. If he is an automaton, he is irresponsible, and so has an unanswerable justification for anything he is or does. His creed is simple and complete: Whatever is, is inevitable. Said a man to his friend, "You are acting like a fool." "Well," was the answer, "it is that I am, I cannot help it. That is the way fate made me." From that alibi, persistently held, there is no appeal; it is an impenetrable defense mechanism. An altogether different outlook is suggested by Emerson: "Henry Thoreau made, last night, the fine remark that, as long as a man stands in his own way, everything seems to be in his way."

RISE OF FATALISM

Only on the basis of man's profound emotional desire to be dispensed from such responsibility can the historic rise of one system of fatalism after another be explained.

Astrology—its belated devotees still among us—provided a vast system of foreordination whose verbal left-overs linger in our vocabulary. If a man was jovial it was because he was born under the planet Jove; if mercurial, under Mercury. Nor has the clog escaped such usage, for I am and certain forms of Christianity have notoriously provided fatalistic doctrines, according to which man is the helpless victim of divine decrees.

Lyman Beecher was a masterful figure in New England in his day. One week end he was to exchange pulpits with a neighboring minister who held a stiff theory of predestination, while on that point Beecher was for his time a liberal. On Sunday morning both men started from home, each going to the other's church, and met midway.

As they paused, the neighboring minister said, "Doctor Beecher, I wish to call to your attention that before the creation of the world God arranged that you were to preach in my pulpit and I in yours on this particular Sabbath." "Is that so?" said Lyman Beecher, glaring at him. "Then I won't do it!" And turning his horse, he returned to his own church.

However, there is a kernel of truth in determinism. When one considers our absolute dependence on the maintenance of the earth's heat and moisture, the determining effect on each individual of the race's biological evolution, the momentous consequences of heredity, when one confronts the fact that our initial endowments of physique, intelligence, and temperament are genetically predetermined, and when, added to that, one knows how powerfully lives are directed and shaped from babyhood up by conditioning environments, one cannot lightly talk about being master of one's fate and captain of one's soul.

Unless our conscious experience, however, is fallacious, this is not the whole story. All the more because the truth in fatalism is so momentous, stress is needed on that inner core of personal initiative and response where lies our power to individualize our handling of life. In the conviction that—to use Dostoevsky's phrase—"people are people and not the keys of a piano," is the beginning of human life's distinction and dignity.

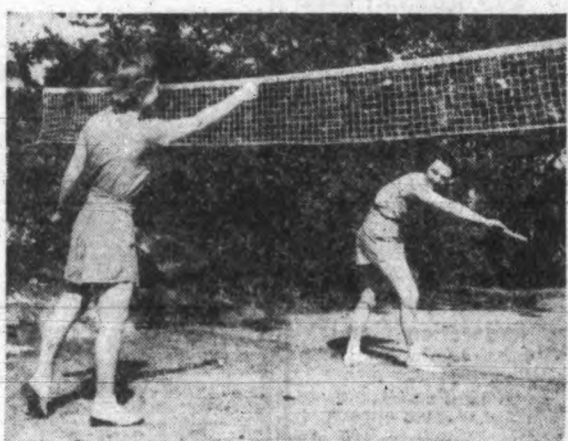

Moreover, the facts justify this conviction. The very spectacle of one vast system of determinism after another rising and falling suggests alike their emotional source and their intellectual invalidity. At the centre of human life is a realistic, experimental fact—man's capacity for personal response—whose effects in changing environment as well as enduring it, and in altering personal quality as well as putting up with it, are too evident to be denied.

Next Saturday: Too many people use only a "vocabulary of defeat."

SEQUENCE BY KAY McINTYRE
PICTURES BY FLT. SGT. HUGH WALTER, R.C.A.F.

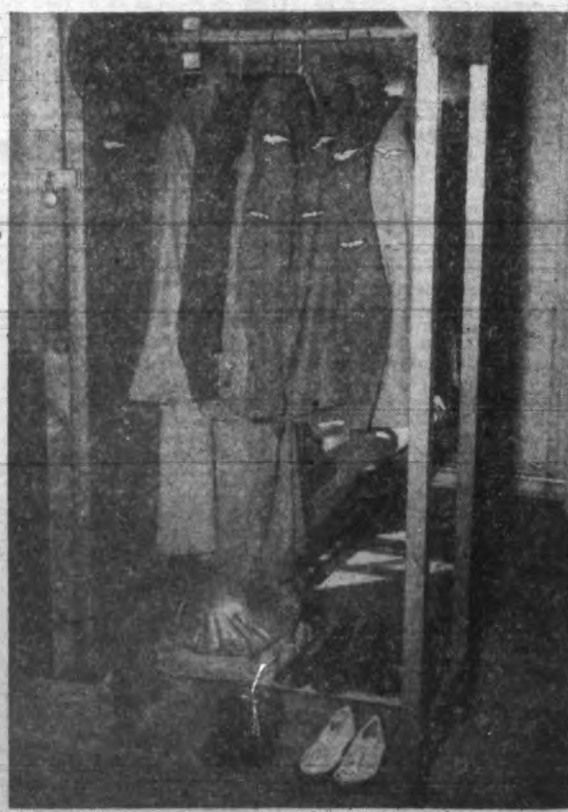

"Domestic evenings," so termed in the Women's Division of the Air Force, sees Joyce Crowfoot, Mary Milewski, Sylvia Cunningham and Peggy Aird polish their section of barrack block from floor to ceiling.

"Right back at you!" In regulation sweaters, shorts, and sneakers, Sylvia and Alice take their turn at deck tennis on the lower lawn.

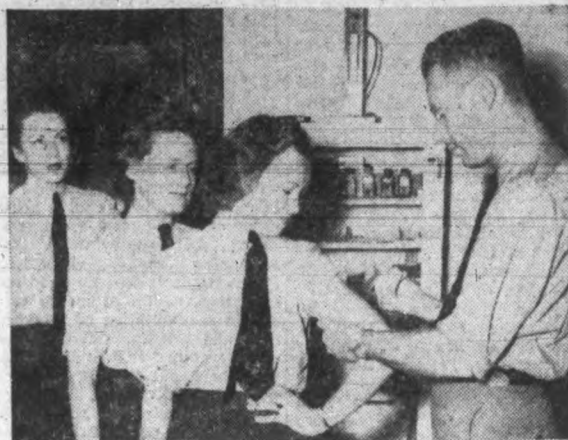

SO. Audrey McLaren, administrative officer for Kildonan, calls herself a glorified housekeeper. Here she looks over noonday rations as girls line up for meal served cafeteria style in dining-room.

An air force girl's rack and shelves contain three blue wool suits, one summer drill suit, trench coat, greatcoat, gloves, cap, smock for fatigues, gas cape, gas mask and helmet, two pairs oxfords, one pair running shoes, overshoes, shorts and sweater.

Everywhere that Mary goes, Montmorency, her china lamb, goes, too. Sprawled over double-decker bunks, quartet interrupt their chat to admire Mary's tiny mascot.

"Shot before sunset!" Girls don't mind watching as Flt. Lt. J. F. Sparling plunges needle into Mary's arm. Innoculation parades, part of life in the air force, are taken in stride.

Note R.C.A.F. crest on carpet, which, like other blue and wine appointments, is regulation issue in officers' messes across Canada. Left to right: ASO, Mary McCulloch, SO, Audrey McLaren, ASO Joyce Loutet, ASO, Sylvia Boyd.

Wash day is every day in laundry room of their barrack block. Tubs, ironing boards, irons and drying racks are supplied for the girls who do their shirts, stockings and underwear.

Most important moment of the day is mailtime. Postman arriving at Kildonan, weighed down, is often intercepted on driveway by girls looking for important letters.

Jerry Says Good-Bye

Cpl. Jerry Gosley, R.A.F., best known to Victorians as the producer of the Smile Shows, gave the following resume in rhyme of his two-year stay at his final appearance during Wednesday night's performance at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

When I came to Victoria two years ago
I was a British as British could be,
I didn't look silly when in Piccadilly,
But here people giggled at me.

With my glass in my eye and my old school tie
I went out to meet this new nation.
When I met someone new, I said: "How do-you-do?"
They said: "Hi ya, you great, big dalmation."

I thought this was rude and a little bit crude,
But I vowed I'd get used to their talk.
I now call sweets "candy" and say "fine and dandy,"
And eat all my meals with a fork.

I went for a walk on Pandora,
The thing in its glory I saw.
And it is my contention this monstrous invention
Has steeled me against the horrors of war.

I ran from Pandora to Fort Street,
Then stopped for a rest near a bank.
I wasn't long there when a roar rent the air
And a tram car flashed by like a tank.

Now I've got used to your street cars
Their noise sounds like music to me.
And though it may sting I've got used to the thing—
They're a part of Victoria, B.C.

This town has more Scotsmen than Scotland;
Or so it appears to this flyer.
They've got McTavish, McGavin and Haggis
McLennan, McFeely and Prior.

I've nearly got used to the Empress Hotel
Its lounge and its afternoon tea.
Without being skittish it's so terribly British,
It appears almost foreign to me.

Gardens in November

COMPOSTS

ONCE MORE Victoria Horticultural Society appeals to all gardeners not to burn leaves. Goodness knows, says the society's November bulletin, our soils are impoverished enough without deliberately destroying one of our best sources of organic matter.

Practically everything will rot to form good compost except excessively woody portions of garden material. The original "adoc" process for rotting garden refuse developed at the Rothamsted Experimental Station in England, which, incidentally, was established just 100 years ago, is based on the principle that the organisms of decay require nitrates and phosphates for their favorable development and lime to neutralize the organic acids formed in the process.

They carry out their job efficiently, the soil organisms, like any other animals, require food (garden refuse) and proper conditions of air, temperature and moisture. The chemicals used to assist this rotting process are three pounds sulphate of ammonia, one and a half pounds superphosphate and three pounds agricultural lime for each 100 pounds of garden refuse.

HARDY ANNUALS

GIRL with the hoe says: Sow these hardy annuals this fall and save work next spring—popples, alyssum, calliopsis, bachelor's buttons, larkspurs, California poppies. Clean up all old vegetable tops and destroy them. Too often they harbor insect pests. Peat moss is a fine mulch for hardy perennials, shedding moisture well and preventing heaving from possible frost and unusually heavy rains.

CHICKENS

THOSE energetic Victory gardeners who built a chickenhouse in their backyard last spring and purchased a few hens are more delighted than ever these November days of egg shortages. What is more delicious than an egg or two, fresh from the nest, with bread and butter (spread thin these days), and some home-made jam or jelly. And that fresh egg tastes even better if it comes from your own backyard.

It is not too late to go in for chickens. In fact, this is an excellent time to put up a house and build a pen. You'll be well repaid, but get someone who knows to select the hens for you.

If you are wondering why the egg shortage at the moment—eggs are still going to Great Britain and the armed services are eating more eggs than ever before and, of course, this is the slack season in the chicken house. Egg production in Canada this year, so far, has been about 20 per cent greater than in 1942, but greater domestic consumption has more than taken up this increase.—J.K.N.

Amateur Gardener

By E.L.F.

AT THIS SEASON of the year, we amateurs sometimes get an idea that our vegetable gardens have reached the stage where they need little or no attention and we can safely forget them altogether until spring. This is a great mistake for much valuable work can, and should be done now, if we are going to improve on the results we achieved this year.

DIGGING NOW

There's the very important matter of digging, for instance. Every bit of ground that is lying idle should be turned over to at least the depth of a spade and left tossed up in rough ridges and hummocks so the action of rain, wind and frost can reach down into the earth. Do this now and you'll be surprised at the improvement in your garden next season.

Before you dash out to find a spade, here's a word or two about digging. Choose a tool with a good strong blade and a firm handle. Weigh it in your hands and be sure it is light to handle. A heavy tool is tiring. When digging, always keep the blade straight. That is, push the spade into the ground vertically, and you will be sure to dig the full depth of the blade, if you let it slip into the earth at an angle, it does not go nearly as deep. Always clean the blade after doing a bit of digging. Caked earth makes digging much harder when next you use the tool. It will also rust your spade.

WINTER GREENS

Have you a good showing of winter greens in the garden? These, too, need your attention. Make it a weekly practice to remove the yellowing leaves from cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and sprouts. Left on, or near the plants, they not only look untidy, they are a perfect breeding place for disease and blight. Examine your sprouts carefully from day to day and if you find any of them splitting across the top, gather them at once, otherwise they will cause rot.

Earth up spring cabbages (if you have them set out in your garden) as they grow. A light drizzling of weathered soot around each plant will warm the earth a little and head off lurking pests. Weathered soot, stirred in every three weeks, alongside those onion seeds you planted in early autumn, will keep the crop healthy and in growth. Keep the weeds away from these onion rows, too. Cut off all the drooping tops of your leeks to keep them from trailing on the damp ground and developing rot. Earth up late sown varieties so they will whiten properly.

The Same Old Germany
"HITLER'S NEW, KAISER'S OLD ORDER," by Curt Geyer, a Fight for Freedom Publication, published by Hutchinson & Co., London.

THIS is written by a former member of the editorial staff of the Berlin Vorwoerter, who is the son of one of the founders of the German Social Democratic Party. His thesis is that under the skin it is the same old Germany bent on conquest, whether directed by a royal Hohenzollern or by a totalitarian dictator.

"The German Reich, created in 1871 of blood and iron, is a kingdom of war and not a kingdom of peace," Geyer writes.

"The peculiar economic and social structure of Germany finds its true constitutional expression in war and in the immediate preparation of war. The Hitler dictatorship is modeled on the dictatorship of the third Supreme Army Command of the First World War. The constitution of the Germany of today is a plebiscitary democracy of the masses which is directed towards war and its social strains and stresses are deprived by warlike discipline of an outlet except in the foreign field, and its social hopes await satisfaction in despoiling of other peoples."

Geyer closely traces the continuity of Germany's imperial policy in its various manifestations from before the last war until the present. The book is rich in information and background. Published in the one-shilling series, we know of no greater money's worth in the field of international affairs.

ROD MACLEAN, B.C.-born boy and for many years a resident of Victoria, now advertising manager of California Bank, Los Angeles, is represented in "Post Scripts," a collection of humor from the Saturday Evening Post just published in a gift book edition by Whittles House, a division of the McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc.

"In prose and verse — and pointed up with pertinent cartoons — over 100 of America's outstanding interpreters of life in its lighter aspects offer you laughter and relaxation for your leisure moments," according to Marjorie R. Derrickson, who edited the anthology.

In the Flicka Tradition
"THUNDERHEAD," a story of a boy and his colt, by Mary O'Hara, published by Longmans, Green & Co., Toronto.

MARY O'HARA has written a sequel to her charming and memorable "My Friend Flicka," in "Thunderhead." It is the story of a boy and his colt which could not respond to the patient and persistent training of his young master, but had to act as God made him, not according to some cooked-up plan of men. There are outstanding individuals in the animal world as well as the human. Thunderhead was a throw-back from the wild horses of the past who roamed the plains, fought each other — stallions and mares with intelligence to take care of themselves, stallions who bred, took care of their mares, fought for them, rounded them up, made them obey and saw that they had proper food and shelter. Out on the hills the mares would have their foals — take care of them. It was after the self-willed, fiery colt adventured into a distant valley and met its fabulous grand sire, the Albino, that his young master realized that it was useless to go against nature. He had tried so desperately to give Thunderhead the life of a racehorse but his efforts had been frustrated.

This profoundly moving novel is the tale of the growth of a boy and his colt to maturity. Those who have read "My Friend Flicka," will know the McLaughlin's, Nell and Rob, and their two sons, Ken and Howard, who are now meeting the problems of adolescence on Goose Bar Ranch in Wyoming. Whether writing of human beings or horses, Mary O'Hara has the special magic of understanding and dramatizing their innermost feelings in a way which brings both people and horses glowingly alive to the reader. This book is highly recommended for the Christmas list.

United Church of Faith

"THIS IS OUR FAITH," published by the Ryerson Press.

THIS is an unusual book by Professor John Dow of Emmanuel College, Toronto. It was written at the request of the United Church of Canada's Commission on Faith, which was appointed in 1936 by the General Council of the United Church of Canada, meeting in Ottawa. The commission has been under the chairmanship of Dr. Richard Davidson. The book is designed for ministers, Sunday school superintendents, Bible class teachers and leaders of youth church member classes.

Sub-title of Professor Dow's book is "An exposition of the statement of faith of the United Church of Canada." The book is issued by the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada.

London Takes to Emily

"THE BOOK OF SMALL," by Emily Carr, Victoria's distinguished artist and author, was published in a London edition Oct. 21. The Oxford University Press in England felt that despite wartime restriction the English public should have an opportunity of getting to know Emily Carr's work better. They feel it is a "delightful piece of literature. There has been no better book of its kind since Kenneth Grahame stopped writing over 20 years ago."

No Fuel, 140 Men Idle at Roofing Plant

One hundred and forty men were idle at the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. today because there was no fuel to operate the plant.

Logan Mayhew, managing director of the company, announced that he hoped to have fuel Monday morning, but if it did not arrive the plant would remain closed.

The company has been receiving hog fuel from Youbou, but the output there has fallen, due to the curtailment of operations. Only one shift is now used.

Mr. Mayhew also announced that hopes the company had entertained of reopening the pulp mill have been shattered again. Power to operate this mill is received from the B.C. Electric, but last April, the company said, owing to lack of rainfall in the spring, that it would be unable to maintain the supply. The mill was shut down and eight men lost employment.

The Sidney Roofing and Paper Company had hopes that in the fall they would reopen the pulp mill, but there has been little rainfall. The lifting of the black-out regulations meant a greater consumption of electric power, and free electricity for November and December has also increased consumption in homes. Heavy rains must fall before the power situation improves.

The pulp mill can produce 2,000 tons of ground wood pulp annually, but the output this year will be under 500 tons.

Bryn Mawr Musician May Take Post Here

Ernest Willoughby, professor of music at Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania, choir and bandmaster, organist and composer, has been offered the position as choirmaster of Christ Church Cathedral, recently vacated by Stanley Bailey.

For several years Mr. Willoughby has visited Victoria in the summer, and last August conducted the Royal Navy Band in an unusually classic program at Beacon Hill Park.

Intensely interested in the progress of young people, Mr. Willoughby is well known as an adjudicator, both vocal and instrumental, for the youth concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra. He feels bands should have a greater place in music than merely heading a parade and to that end has made a point of studying classic music suitable for transportation into band music.

Dr. Vaughn Williams, internationally-known composer, on listening to the Bryn Mawr College choir, said Ernest Willoughby "showed possession of a great gift as choir-trainer and conductor."

Besides his work at the famous college, Mr. Willoughby is director of a glee club, an operatic society and solo organist.

As assistant organist, Mr. Willoughby spent three years at Hereford Cathedral, where also he conducted and accompanied the Hereford Three Choirs Festival Chorus.

Dean Spencer Elliott of Christ Church Cathedral is awaiting word from Mr. Willoughby before releasing further information on the appointment.

Maternity Pavilion Plans Discussed

Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital discussed tentative plans Friday night for the new maternity pavilion, which will incorporate in its design all facilities needed for the highest standard of hospital care for mothers and infants.

There were 109 babies born at the hospital during October, establishing an all-time record; 70 of the babies were girls and 39 boys. Occupancy reached a peak of 95.3 per cent, taxing the hospital to capacity and at times during the day there were more patients in the building than there were beds available, newly-admitted patients having to wait until accommodation could be released.

A total of 663 people were admitted during the month, and in addition 497 were registered as out-patients. Hospital days of in-patients totaled 11,319.

Discussing the new maternity pavilion, directors noted that B.C.'s mortality rate was the lowest in Canada last year, with only 38 per 1,000, and agreed that the new unit should compare favorably with the most modern institutions of its kind on the North American continent.

Hospital report for the month showed that, though increased rates went into effect Oct. 1 in both Victoria's hospitals, expenses at Jubilee exceeded by $400 the total fees charged. This did not cover depreciation to buildings and equipment, and did not allow for bills remaining unpaid.

An inquiry from the W.P.T.B. with regards to an increase in rates, which went into effect in both local hospitals Oct. 1, thus bringing fees up to those which have prevailed on the mainland for many months, was the result of an application to the board by the Vancouver Island Labor Council. The inquiry was answered by the hospital's statement that even at increased rates the total of fees did not equal the expenses.

Labor Council upon petition to have its representatives sit on the hospital board were informed that while appointment and election of directors were governed by provisions of the act, under which the Royal Jubilee Hospital became an incorporated body, those provisions afforded means whereby any interested bodies could secure representation.

Miss Joan Hooper won the directors' scholarship award to the student ranking highest in provincial R.N. examinations.

Killed in Air Action

Sgt. Gnr. Kenneth Dudley Attwell, R.C.A.F., 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Attwell, 1512 Vining Street, was killed in active air operations Nov. 16, his parents have been advised by the Air Department at Ottawa.

He arrived overseas early in September after spending embarkation leave at home. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Harold, serving with the A.A.C., and Reginald, with the R.C.O.C., and two sisters at home. He was educated at Margaret Jenkins School and Victoria High, and prior to enlistment was employed by David Spencer Ltd.

He received his air force training at Edmonton, Claresholm, Macdonald and Halifax. His father was a bombardier with the 21st Howitzer Battery, C.F.A., in the last World War.

J. H. Harman Chairman

J. Howard Harman, Victoria lawyer, has been appointed by provincial government order-in-council to act as chairman of the arbitration board which will inquire into a dispute over union recognition between Vancouver City Council and certain of its employees, the Department of Labor announces.

Other members of the board are George Gerrard, representing the employees, and Dugald Donaghy, K.C., representing the City of Vancouver.

The employees engaged in the dispute are fire-fighters, outside employees and members of the city hall inside staff.

Mr. Harman has had wide experience in this type of work and on several occasions has been chairman of arbitration boards, working under terms of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

Few Big Meetings For Civic Campaign

Indications Victoria's civic election campaign will be concentrated in a few major downtown meetings, as well as radio appeals, were seen today as two mayoralty aspirants and an aldermanic candidate announced their plans.

T. A. Cresswell, standing for alderman, said he had engaged the Chamber of Commerce auditorium for Thursday evening and had invited all candidates to speak during the meeting starting at 8.

P. E. George, who is contesting the mayoralty, said he would hold a meeting Dec. 6 in the Chamber of Commerce and might hold another rally prior to election day.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall, candidate for mayor, has engaged the Chamber of Commerce Dec. 4. Dr. Hall and Mr. George have invited other candidates to speak at their meetings and have made plans for radio talks.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, seeking his eighth term, has announced no campaign plans to date.

With the Trades and Labor Council withholding its slate until nearer nomination day, few new developments arose during the week on the election field.

Seeking general council seats are five incumbents, Aldermen Ed. Williams, Fred A. Willis, T. W. C. Hawkins, W. H. Davies and B. J. Gadsden as well as Mrs. A. C. Ross and Mr. Cresswell. Contesting the one-year by-election term arising from Ald. George's resignation are Mrs. A. S. Christie, Earl Pollock and E. F. Fox. More candidates are expected later.

In the school board the line includes Trustees F. G. Mulliner, W. A. Baylis, H. E. Douglas and C. M. Parrott, all of whom seek re-election. In addition A. W. Trevett and Isla Tuck have entered the ring.

Prairie Lawyer Dies

Allen E. Dunlop, K.C., '76, a native of Jordan River, Nova Scotia, who practiced law with the firm Shepherd and Dunlop for 21 years in Lethbridge, Alta., died Friday morning at St. Mary's Priory.

The son of David and Matilda Dunlop, he was educated at Sheburne Academy, later graduating from Acadia University with his B.A. degree. He continued his studies at Harvard University and graduated with his LL.B. in 1899.

He was made a K.C. by the Alberta government.

Mr. Dunlop came to Victoria to retire in 1932 and built a country home at Saseens in the Sooke community. He was a member of the Baptist Church and belonged to the Odd Fellows from 1900. Three brothers, Judson of Long Island; Leander of West Medford, Mass., and Archie of Irvington, N.J., survive.

Funeral services will be held from McCall Brothers at 2, Wednesday afternoon.

'This Is the Army' At Capitol Monday
The screen production of Irving Berlin's "This Is the Army," filmed in Technicolor by Warner Bros. for Army Emergency Relief, will have its initial opening at the Capitol Theatre Monday.

Directed by Michael Curtiz, the picture presents Irving Berlin and the original company of 350 soldiers who performed the musical for three months on Broadway and toured in the show last winter, making $2,000,000 for Army Emergency Relief.

Several Hollywood personalities have been added to appear in the picture. Among them are George Murphy, Joan Leslie, Lieut. Ronald Reagan, Kate Smith, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel, Frances Langford and Gertrude Niesen. Sgt. Joe Louis also appears in the film.

Monty and Gracie Pitch Wit and Woo
Taken alone, either Monty Woolley or Gracie Fields would more than hold up their end of the fun-making in a picture. But when they are teamed, as they are in "Holy Matrimony," the uproarious new 20th Century-Fox comedy, due Monday, at the At-Las Theatre, they're in there pitching all the time - both wit and woo!

PLAZA THEATRE
Pola Negri, who is returning to the American screen for the first time since 1932, in Andrew Stone's laugh-filled comedy, "Hi Diddle Diddle," currently at the Plaza Theatre, through United Artists release, found a chance to satisfy one of her long-standing ambitions. Specifically, her ambition is to sing the lead role in Carmen at the Metropolitan Opera House. "Hi Diddle Diddle" offers Miss Negri the first chance to satisfy her operatic aspirations. She plays the role of an opera singer in the new comedy hit and sings an aria from Wagner's "Die Walkure." "Hi Diddle Diddle" boasts a prominent cast, which includes Adolphe Menjou, Martha Scott, June Havoc, Dennis O'Keefe and Billie Burke.

RIO THEATRE
"The Pan-American system" is the way vivacious Lupe Velez and Leo Carrillo describe their novel method for studying the script for Columbia's gay new comedy, "Honolulu Lu," at the Rio Theatre. First, they rehearsed the line in English with the dialogue coach. Then they argued over the various points in emphatic Spanish. Finally, they played the

Mirthful Murder Mystery at York
The most mirthful murder mystery to hit the screen in recent years comes Monday to the York Theatre. It is Columbia's delightful "A Night to Remember," co-starring Loretta Young and Brian Aherne and it richly deserves its Hollywood acclamation as "something new in laughter."

"A Night to Remember" is a gay and giddy story of a young married couple who, between kisses, hunt killers. As Nancy and Jeff Troy, who move into Greenwich village in search of "atmosphere" and instead find a corpse and an assorted collection of peculiar characters, the Columbia costars leave nothing to be desired. Both are brilliantly at home in sophisticated, blithely wise-cracking roles both are easy to look at, both are extremely talented; together they make a thoroughly enjoyable co-starring team.

FIRST civilian hockey squad from the mainland will go on show tonight at the Willows ice house when Vancouver St. Regis hook up with the Victoria Machinery Depot for the second time this season. Last Monday evening in New Westminster the local shipyarders knocked over Coley Hall's party by a two-goal margin. V.M.D. boys are confident they can make it two straight and consolidate their position in the P.C.H.A. standings.

Talking to several of the V.M.D. players after that jaunt to the mainland they all chorused: "It was the worst trip we had ever made with any hockey club." The boys were referring to the blanket of fog they experienced both on the boat trip and their car journey over to the city on the banks of the Fraser. The Victoria players didn't get out of the arena until 1.30 and remained in the Royal City overnight. One of the V.M.D. players who was acting as chauffeur of one of the cars, remarked: "Fog was so thick I just about drove through the back door before I realized we had arrived at the arena."

With several army clubs having already folded in the east it is only natural that Victoria fans have been wondering if the Nanaimo Army club will lose any

Winnipeg Bombers Leave Wednesday For National Final

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fit. Lieut. Bill Cockburn, manager of Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, announced today the team would leave for Toronto Nov. 24 to meet either Hamilton Wildcats or Lachine R.C.A.F. in the Dominion rugby football final, Nov. 27, at Varsity Stadium.

"By leaving Wednesday he will have an opportunity of holding at least one workout before the all-important contest," the Bomber manager said in making the announcement. Reports had circulated that the team would not leave Winnipeg until Nov. 25, arriving in Toronto the day of the game.

Meanwhile, the Bombers, who won the right to play in the east-west classic by winning the western Canada championship, continued to drill for the clash, minus two of their star performers, Johnny Lake and Nate Shore.

Lake, a 250-pound backfielder, is still nursing shoulder and leg injuries which kept him on the sidelines during the western title series with Regina All-Services Roughriders, while Shore, a crafty snap, received a bad shoulder injury in the last playoff game with Regina.

Shore is expected to be ready to face the eastern champions next week, but, according to Reg. Threlfall, Bomber coach, "we're not counting on Lake."

Threlfall said his starting backfield looked like Brian Quinn, Dan Caparu, Ches McCance and Garnet Smith as halfbacks, and Dave Greenberg as quarterback.

Quinn has been a sensation in practices this week. He has been kicking the ball 45 to 60 yards, and has developed into an accomplished passer.

The Crystal Garden, which has been the scene of triumphs by many of the world's greatest aquatic stars, tonight will add another big name to the list of those who have performed in that pool. Al Patnik, with his friend George Athans, are scheduled for a springboard show which should exceed any of its kind held here.

The Patnik appearance will correspond to that of Johnny Weissmuller, Helene Maddison, Georgie Coleman, Eleanor Holm, Stubby Kruger and other internationally-famous artists in days gone by. The gala featuring Patnik's performance will start at 8.

Tonight, following the senior hockey game between V.M.D. and St. Regis, a practice for the juveniles of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association, who have been given sweaters, will be held.

During the senior game a collection will be taken in aid of the minor hockey.

who will don the big pads again tonight to take his place between the pipes for the Victoria Machinery Depot when the shipyarders battle Vancouver St. Regis in a Pacific Coast Hockey Association clash at the Willows rink. Harney will replace Doug Webb, Navy performer, who has been forced to give up playing with the civilian team. Referees will face off the puck at 8.30.

Army Wins Hockey Game

Whips St. Regis 7-3

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — Nanaimo Army have crashed the win column of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association and in spectacular fashion.

Producing the fire-power that is indicated by their star-studded line-up, the soldier team whipped a fighting Vancouver St. Regis team 7 to 3 Friday night for their first victory in three starts to go into a four-way tie for the league's second spot.

And the score might have been even more lopsided except that Elmer Kreller accidentally slipped one past his own goalie in the third period in a tussle with St. Regis forwards for the puck. Bill Hutton got credit for the goal as a St. Regis marker.

Army's starting line of Mel Lund, Pinky Melnyk and Sammy Kennedy carried the mail, the latter getting three goals, Lund, Kreller, Joffre Desllets and Jimmy Melroe got the others.

KWONG GETS TWO
St. Regis' smart new Chinese linesman, Larry Kwong got the Vancouver sextette's two earned goals.

Jack Upsets Montgomery

Stage Fierce Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Bouncing Beau Jack, the one-time Augusta shoeshine boy, scored a smashing 15-round upset over highly favored Bob Montgomery to win the New York version of the lightweight crown before 16,000 wild-eyed fans in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Montgomery entered the ring a 1 to 3 favorite to beat the former champion for the second time. Last spring, Montgomery gave the Jack a bad beating and Beau never seemed to be the great little fighting machine again.

Jack won by a close—but a clear—margin, after weathering Bobcat's closing rush in the 14th and 15th rounds, during which the defending champion, apparently realizing his title was slipping, threw everything into a desperate rally. Through these last two heats, the Beau was a sadly battered and weary warrior, holding on at times and falling into the ropes on other occasions.

But at the end, he was in front, and the verdict drew a tremendous roar from the crowd of 17,866 who contributed to a gross gate of $96,873.04 to make this the biggest financial success of the season. On the Associated Press score card, the Beau—his real name is Sidney Walker—had seven rounds, with six going to Montgomery and two even.

Chalking up his upset after 15 of the fiercest rounds seen in the Garden in years—during which

Flyers Varsity In Basketball Battle Tonight

R.C.A.F. Flyers from Pat Bay, holders of the Canadian senior men's basketball championship and the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds will renew their court rivalry at the High School gym tonight, starting at 9.

Last spring the Flyers knocked over Varsity in the British Columbia final and went on to lift the national crown. The students will be out for revenge tonight and will have the advantage of having seen more action in league competition than the air force stars.

Varsity will have two of last year's ranking players, Robertson and Franklin, in their line-up again tonight, while the Flyers will trot out a team packing plenty of scoring punch.

Pair of preliminary games are carded with two women's teams taking the floor at 7, followed at 8 by K.V.'s and an R.C.A.F. quintette.

Winnipeg Army in Overtime Ice Win

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Army made its debut in the Winnipeg Service Senior Hockey League Friday night by defeating Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, defending Manitoba champions, 4 to 3 in overtime.

Bob Kirkpatrick, formerly of New York Rangers National League team scored the payoff goal at 2.16 in the extra session, picking up a pass from George Agar.

The teams failed to score in the opening session. Then the air men on goals by Rene Trudel and Paul Platz, moved into a 2 to 1 lead. Johnny Horeck notched the Army's first counter, with Sammy Fabro and Kirkpatrick drawing assists.

Fabro deadlocked the count 2 to 2 early in the third period before Trudel got his second goal and Paul Lavallee scored unassisted into the Army.

Mrs. Jackson Winner

Scoring a 3-and-1 victory over Lady Coll in the final, Mrs. E. Jackson was the winner of the Lansdowne Cup competition played at the Uplands Golf Club. The trophy was presented Friday by Mrs. Bramley, club captain, at a tea held in the clubhouse.

In the consolation flight final Mrs. H. T. Webb defeated Mrs. A. M. Jones, 4 and 3.

Monthly par competition completed Friday resulted as follows: Class "A," Mrs. H. MacKenzie, all square; Class "B," Mrs. H. White, two down.

Winnipeg Doctor In Navy Wins D.S.C.

TORONTO (CP) — Lt. Cdr. Gordon Fahrni, 27-year-old Winnipeg doctor who treated a scalded seaman on the sloping side of a sinking minesweeper, has received the D.S.C. for his action.

Dr. Fahrni, who has served two years with the Royal Navy, now is in Toronto taking a course in surgery.

In an interview, he told of many attacks on minesweepers to which he was attached, and said he sometimes was allowed to blast at attacking German planes with a machine gun.

Telling of the incident for which he was awarded the D.S.C., Lt. Cdr. Fahrni said he was on the bridge when the minesweeper struck a mine. He was thrown to the deck, but was able to grope his way about and after treating a number of wounded discovered the scalded seaman.

The crew was ordered to abandon ship, but Dr. Fahrni stuck with the seaman, treated him and then as the minesweeper was on the verge of sinking pushed the man into the water and helped

Canadiens Confident Of Shattering Jinx

Battle Leafs; No Help for Lowly Rangers

The incentive provided by three years of frustration rides with Montreal Canadiens tonight when they oppose Toronto Maple Leafs in one of four week-end National Hockey League games.

Apart from their desire to remain the only undefeated team in the league, Canadiens will be goaded by the knowledge that teams representing Montreal have managed to win only one game on Toronto ice in the last three years. Two resulted in draws and the others went to Leafs, many by lopsided scores.

Despite this precedent, the Flying Frenchmen will be strongly favored to snap the jinx. They defeated Toronto 5 to 2 at Montreal Thursday in the season's first meeting of the two clubs.

Behind Canadiens stand a record of six victories and two ties, which gives them a four-point lead over the second-place Chicago Black Hawks, who play Red Wings at Detroit Sunday. Leafs, tied with Detroit for third place two points behind Chicago, meet the tail-end Rangers in New York Sunday, while Boston Bruins travel to Montreal.

Rangers got little besides sympathy Friday when the league's board of governors met to clarify some playing rules and to consider wartime problems, including the helplessness of the Rangers, who have lost their first eight games.

The only concrete step which may help the Rangers was the decision that, beginning Nov. 25, each club may have only 13 players, including the goal tender, in uniform for each game. This was done as a wartime measure, following reduction to 14 players in uniform last season, and may lead to the sale of surplus players to New York.

BOSTON MAY DEAL

Most of the clubs, fearful of further inroads on their squads by the Canadian and United States Selective Services, refused to listen to the Rangers' cash bids for defencemen. The Boston Bruins, however, made what Ranger manager Lester Patrick called a "three-quarter promise" to sell their fifth player, Patrick expects to receive final word on this deal by Monday. Toronto and Montreal both made less definite offers, depending upon the availability of certain players.

The principal rules changes clarify offside rulings at the new centre line, provided a double penalty for a player who commits two fouls on one play before the referee's whistle is blown, and provide a match penalty for any player who deliberately drives another into the goal uprights so as to injure him.

$20,000 WAR EFFORT

TORONTO (CP) — President F. W. (Dinty) Moore of Port Colborne, Ont., today told delegates attending the Ontario Hockey Association's 54th annual meeting that O.H.A. clubs raised $20,000 last year as part of hockey's war effort. This season, he said, "the picture is much brighter."
